Wheat sold on the Chicago Board of Trade Thursday at sixty-two cents, the lowest point in the history of the market there.

Fire at Midway, Ky., Thursday night destroyed the Midway Elevator, together with 30,000 bushels of wheat. The total loss is $33,000 with an insurance of $19,000.

The bill providing for the removal of the Capital and its location in Louisville was introduced in the house at Frankfort Thursday by Representative Krieger. It was referred to the committee on Internal Improvements.

The Rev. M. Dawson, colored, was assassinated at Dawson Springs, Ky., about 2 o'clock Thursday morning. The deed is supposed to have been caused by his having sworn not to raise against several persons for disturbing religious worship.

The Republican State Convention at Columbus, Ohio, Thursday, renominated Wm McKelvey for Governor by acclamation and indorsed and reaffirmed the platform of principles adopted by the Republican National Convention of 1892.

The Missouri Home for Confederate Veterans was dedicated at Higginsville, Mo., Thursday, the fund for its construction and support, $30,000, having been raised by personal contributions. A number of G. A. R. veterans gave assistance and one device his pensions regularly to the institution.

In the Federal Court at Chicago Thursday Judges Wood and Jenkins ordered an injunction to be issued restraining the officials of the World's Fair from opening the gates on Sunday. Judge Grosscup dissented. Chief Justice Fuller granted an order suspending the injunction till an appeal could be heard by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Two masked men held up train No. 12 coming east on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Road Wednesday night at Nodaway, a small station west of Corning, Iowa. They detached the baggage car and main car and compelled the engineer and fireman to leave their engine and two cars down the track. Here they entered the baggage car and asked the baggagemen what train it was. Being informed that it was only a passenger train, they said: "We are after the Denver express," and immediately disappeared.

Judge Anderson, of the Nashville Criminal Court, has caused to be entered upon the minutes an order to the Attorney General to prosecute ex-officio George A. Dazey, of the defunct firm of Dobbins & Dazey, upon charges of false pretenses and larceny. For some time the Grand Jury has been investigating the Commercial National Bank fraud in search of violations of State laws. Dazey is now under indictment in the Federal Court and the Criminal Court. Dazey, it is alleged got over $200,000 from the Commercial National Bank on a forged telegram a day or two before his firm went to the wall, and the Commercial National Bank crash followed.

PRESIDENT AND SECRETARY

Want the Sherman Silver Law Repealed.

No Demand From the British Ambassador.

Not at Outs, President Cleveland and Tammany.

OTHER IMPORTANT MATTERS

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12, 1893.

While President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle believe that the Sherman silver law is responsible for the unsettled financial status, and that its repeal is absolutely necessary for the welfare and prosperity of the country, and that the failure of the extra session of Congress, to be held in September, to repeal it promptly, will precipitate a financial panic; they are not doing the slightest thing to force any Senator or Representative to vote for its repeal against his honest opinion, nor will they; but they do ask that every man, Congressman or private individual, shall study this question anew, not from the point of view of last year or the year before, but from the point of view of to-day, with all the attendant circumstances in the industrial, business and financial world, believing that such intelligent study of the question cannot fail to result in a practically unanimous vote for its repeal as soon as the extra session of Congress gets together. The practical operation of the Sherman law has shown it to be a bad policy, for the arrest of an officer of the British steamer Nigretta at New Orleans last month. The arrest has been, in a courteous note, brought to the attention of the State Department and an investigation is now being made of the case. If the facts show that repatriation is due it will be made promptly without any demand. The originator of the silly rumor must have been entirely ignorant of diplomatic methods.

There is no truth in the sensational rumor sent out from Washington early this week, that the British Ambassador had demanded of this Government repatriation, pecuniary and by apology, for the arrest of an officer of the British steamer Nigretta at New Orleans last month. The arrest has been, in a courteous note, brought to the attention of the State Department and an investigation is now being made of the case. If the facts show that repatriation is due it will be made promptly without any demand. The originator of the silly rumor must have been entirely ignorant of diplomatic methods.

It is evident to even the most casual observer that President Cleveland is a much better politician now than he was eight years ago. There is no denying the fact that Democrats have been a little nervous over the distribution of the New York Federal of fees, owing to the threatening attitude which Tammany and anti-Tammany Democrats have coupled toward each other. It was feared that any positive recognition of either side by the administration would precipitate a faction fight in New York that would endanger, if it did not actually lose the State. There is no longer any such fear. President Cleveland has proven by his selection of a postmaster for New York City that he knows how to select men who will be equally acceptable and satisfactory to Tammany and anti-Tammany Democrats. President Cleveland has been invited to speak at the 4th of July celebration by Tammany Hall, which shows how little truth there is in the newspaper talk about Tammany's not liking the President.

The much talked-about new extradition treaty with Russia was officially promulgated this week and notice given by Presidential proclamation that it would go into effect on the 24th of the present month. About the only material difference between this and reciprocity treaties we have with other countries is that attempts against the life of the head of either government or members of his family are not classed as political offenses, but are made extraditable crimes. Officials here do not expect that the working of the new treaty will bring about any of the calamities so freely predicted by those who are opposed to it.

Ex-Senator Saunders, of Nebraska, who is the father-in-law of that high-flying young man, once known to the toadies of the Metropolis as "Prince Harrison," now plain Russell Harrison, in compliance with a request, has resigned his membership on the Utah Commission, and H. C. Lett, who was a prominent candidate for Governor of the Territory, has been appointed in his place. This makes the Commission stand three Democrats and two Republicans, and in view of the expectation that the Territory will be admitted to Statehood at the coming session of Congress, it is not expected that any further changes will be made in the Commission.

Secretary Herbert, accompanied by a number of prominent officials and a few invited guests, will go over to Philadelphia to-morrow morning to witness the launching of the battleship Massachusetts.

Ever since the organization of the National banking system, one of its important laws has been construed in favor of the stockholders, but hereafter this law will be construed in favor of the depositors and other creditors of these banks. The law in question is that which provides for the levying of an assessment, up to 100 per cent of the face of stock held, on the stockholders of banks, to make good any losses. It has been customary to wait until all the other assets of a broken bank had been realized on before making this assessment; hereafter it will be made as soon after a bank closes its doors as possible.

Prison Day was celebrated at Frankfort Friday. The ladies taking huge bouquets to the prisoners in the pen.

The building in Washington formerly known as Ford's Theater, in which President Lincoln was assassinated, was the scene of a disaster Friday in which twenty-four men employed as Government clerks were crushed to death and fifty-two or more were injured, many seriously. The building was used by the Records and Pension division of the War Department, in which nearly 500 clerks were employed. The first, second and third floors in the front part of the building suddenly collapsed, burying the clerks in the debris. Most of those killed were dead when their bodies were recovered. It is claimed that the building had long been insecure, and it was weakened by an excavation being made beneath it. The Government authorities and Congress are criticized for using the building.

George B. Letcher, of Chicago, suicided at Ranta Hotel, Cincinnati, June 9, by the use of morphine. The deceased was formerly of Nicholas county, Ky. He was the only son of Mrs. Mary H. Letcher. He married Miss Bettie Hendricks, daughter of W. H. Hendricks of Natchez, Miss.

At the annual meeting in Jacksonville, Fla., of the Florida Fruit exchange, it was shown that the coming orange crop will exceed all previous yields. A conservative estimate places it at five million boxes, of which at least four million will be marketed.

Ray-Brown, a negro, was hanged at Mayfield, Ky., Friday for the murder of Albert Colley, a white farmer, on the night of December 10, 1892. Before his execution he declared that Dave Sherrill, a negro accomplice, who is serving a life sentence in the penitentiary for the crime, had nothing to do with the murder.

OUTING FOR JUNE.

Opens with a seasonable and most interesting sketch of "Black Bass Fishing." The author, Francis J. Hagan, knows the many peculiarities of this hard-fighting game fish, and writes so pleasantly of his experiences, that one longs to be away to rushing stream and sparkling lake in quest of bass. Many other attractive features of text and illustration complete a delightful number.

The second on the "Kings and Queens of the Turf" in Outing for June, completes one of the most valuable works on the light harness horse that has yet been printed, carefully following the breeding, development and notable performances of every record-breaker, from the first appearance to Hambleton's famous brown son, Dexter, down to the closing triumphs of the phenomenal Kremlin and Stamboul in 1892. The article is illustrated from specially painted portraits of the "Kings," and in addition to being an accurate history of all champion trotting stallions, presents many new and interesting anecdotes of turf matters of interest to all horsemen. It will be followed in July by a history of "Famous Pacers."

Mrs. Fannie Stokes committed suicide by morphine at Knoxville, Tenn. Tuesday Mrs. Stokes had a row with Mrs. Glenn, a neighbor. She struck the latter over the head with an iron bar, inflicting blows which are about to be fatal. The Stokes woman feared a trial for murder, and this and remorse caused her to kill herself.

Secretary of War Lamont was one of the victims selected at a pickpocket at the World's Fair Thursday. While the Secretary did not lose anything, he probably would have been minus his pocketbook in a minute more but for the intervention of one of Captain Bonfield's men. The pickpockets had estimated the contents of two of Mr. Lamont's pockets when the arrest was made.

Assistant District Attorney Weeks, who conducted the prosecution against Mr. Ward M. Field in connection with the failure of Field, Lindley, Welch and Co., in 1891, said: "If Mr. Field is sane, I think he will be brought back to New York and be tried upon the old indictments. It was the understanding when he was taken away that if he recovered his reason the District Attorney should be notified, so as to continue his trial."

By the breaking of an oaken beam, used in lowering the mold of the Columbian Liberty Bell into the pit at Troy, N. Y., Wednesday night, the casting will be delayed for some time. The heavy mass dropped upon the core, breaking off the edges and rendering it unfit for casting a perfect bell. The breaking of the beam was caused by a flaw in the wood. It is probable that the casting will occur in about two weeks.

It is stated the scheme to reorganize the Cordage Trust most favored by the committee proposed an issue of $5,000,000 debenture bonds, an assessment on common stock of ten dollars a share, for which new preferred stock would be issued at par, and an assessment of twenty dollars a share on preferred stock, for which bonds would be exchanged.

When the present county committee was organized they passed a resolution declaring that they thought it was for the best interest of the Democratic party of the county that a primary should not be held for at least a year from their date of organization, or not earlier than May 1, 1894. We are informed that strong pressure is being brought to bear upon some members of that committee to induce them to change their minds. We think we know the personnel of the committee well enough to be very confident that any such attempt will be a failure. We believe we voice the sentiments of nine-tenths of the Democrats of the county when we express the wish that they will strictly adhere to the resolution passed at their first meeting.

Charles S. Brent, of Paris, aged 27 years, was drowned while bathing in Stoner, about a mile above the city. He was attacked with cramps and drowned before help could reach him. He was of the firm of Brent Bros., Paris.

THE ADVOCATE.

"IDIOTIC"

Only the quotation marks of this caption are the Courier-Journal's; the rest belongs to our esteemed Atlanta contemporary, the Constitution. The Courier-Journal can discuss the financial situation without dealing in vituperation. When we find that we can not hope that we shall be able to recognize the fact that the financial situation is not a subject which comes within our province.

"Idiotic" is the title of the following delectable remarks by our Atlanta contemporary:

"The Courier-Journal, commenting on some remarks of a far Western paper, has this to say: 'It has never dawned upon this luminary that for the Government to reduce its coin notes in silver when gold is demanded would be to do the very thing for which it is now abusing Secretary Carlisle—to discriminate against and debase the standard silver dollar.'"

"In order to understand and appreciate to the full extent this article of verbiage—there is no other phrase that will describe it—the reader go over it again and take it in. Here is a declaration that to use the silver dollar as money will be to discriminate against it—that to pay it out as money will debase it!"

We protest against that we do not characterize this article of our Atlanta contemporary as an "idiotic article." According to our understanding of the word, an idiot is a natural born fool, whose defective intellectual powers preclude the possibility of his being anything else. The writer of the foregoing editorial is not therefore, necessarily an idiot; he may be simply ignorant; and ignorance, where not based upon idleness, can be cured.

But it is incomprehensibly strange how such absolutely primitive ignorance could gain access to the editorial page of a journal of the Constitution's character, and especially in the discussion of monetary questions. Dear old Uncle Remus at his best was never so amusing as this financial exposition which appears in the columns that he made famous.

The point on which our Atlanta contemporary is so ludicrously befuddled can be made very clear, to those who know as little about as the writer of our contemporary's "Idiotic" editorial. If Uncle Remus had two one-dollar bills and a one-dollar debt to pay, and if one of those bills was badly mutilated, Uncle Remus would certainly pay that debt with the mutilated bill. He would "use" that bill, "pay" it out as money, and to the extent he did so in preference to using the other bill he would "discriminate" against the mutilated bill. Having less confidence in one bill than the other, he would use the first one in which he had the least confidence.

Again, if the writer of the Constitution's "Idiotic" editorial should incur a debt of $10,000 in the purchase of a library containing a few of the things he doesn't know about the first principles of money; if he had $10,000 in gold and $10,000 in silver and for some reason, whether justifiable or not, he should have less confidence in silver than gold, he would not pay for his library in silver, and would not thereby, "using" the silver in preference to gold, "discriminate" against the silver in favor of the gold, the effect of the discrimination being to "debase" the less valuable metal?

Now take the case of the Secretary of the Treasury, stronger even than these illustrations.

The Government issues coin notes, payable either in gold or silver, at the option of the Secretary of the Treasury, under the injunction of maintaining its metallic parity. The holder of these notes presents them for redemption, and demands gold. If the Secretary refuses to pay gold, he pays silver instead, against which metal is he discriminating, the silver, which he "uses," or the gold, which he keeps? And when it becomes known that the Secretary thus discriminates between the two metals how long would it be before confidence in the Government's ability to maintain gold payments when demanded would disappear and silver would be "debased" in value relatively to gold, thus destroying the parity which it is the object of the Government to preserve, and which is indispensable to a sound currency.

These are such simple and self-evident propositions that it seems a waste of time to repeat them. Yet—still—publishing the Constitution's remarks on silver ignorance rather than idleness—the deliverances of that paper coupled with those of its Denver yoke-mate which the other day exoriated Secretary

Carlisle for refusing to redeem the silver certificates in silver; prove that there is still material for a primary class, to which the a b c's not only of finance, but of common sense, are unknown and unsuspected. To this class the little first lesson is commended.—Courier-Journal.

Change For The Passenger's $10. There is a conductor on the Euclid avenue street car line who played a clever trick on a passenger the other morning, which has probably taught him to have his fare ready hereafter when he boards a car. The passenger lives away out at the end of the line, and was so punctual that he caught the same car every morning. About a week ago he tendered a $10 bill in payment for his fare. The conductor did not have so much money at the beginning of his trip and told the passenger that he would pay the nickel out of his own pocket and he could return it the following morning. The next morning the business man again presented a $10 bill. Again the conductor paid the fare for him.

This occurred four mornings in succession. The fifth morning the same $10 bill came around, but the conductor was prepared. He drew a heavy bag from beneath the seat and handed it to the passenger with the remark: "Here's your change, sir. It's all right. I've counted it." He had secured 1,000 pennies the night before and kept 25 of them for the fare he paid for the business man. The bag contained 975 copper coins. The passenger took the bag and rang for the car to stop. He now rides another car.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

An Old Paris Custom. Certain old customs die hard, otherwise a Paris official who has just received a present of 10 pounds of candles, would not have had this gift offered him. The man thus annually favored is the police commissary of the district of St. Germain l'Auxerrois in Paris. He receives his box of candles from the chamber of commerce, the origin of which is a lighted candle at the door of the chamber as the legal gentlemen were entering it, and on one occasion the commissary's origin of this it was unfair for the expense of the candles to fall upon him, contending that he ought rather to receive an indemnity for his candle.

He gained his point, and from that time forward the commissary was given 300 pounds of wax annually. In the course of time the 300 pounds of wax have gradually melted away and dwindled till in the present day the ancient custom has come down to the gift of a 10-pound box of composite candles, of this size will not be long before the offering of this substitute for the original gift will be dropped.—London Standard.

Wrinkles and hollow cheeks, and dull, runken eyes, don't always mean that a woman is old. Half the time they show that she's overworked or suffering. To those women, to every woman who is tired or afflicted, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription certainly brings back health and strength. It is a legitimate medicine that corrects and cures; a tonic that invigorates and builds up; a nerve that soothes and strengthens. For all the derangements, irregularities and weaknesses peculiar to women, it is the only guaranteed remedy. If it doesn't benefit or cure you have poor money back.

It won't do to experiment with catarrh. There's the constant danger of driving it to the lungs. You can have a safe and permanent cure with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

NOT PARTICULAR AS TO WEAPONS.

But the Other Man Concluded That He Had Business Elsewhere.

One of the men who figured conspicuously in the pioneer days of Nebraska was Colonel Peter A. Sarpy, a distinguished Indian trader and member of the famous American Fur company. An old settler told the following story about this eccentric pioneer: "Colonel Sarpy preferred the freedom of prairies to the society of his kind. He spent most of his time in visiting Omaha wigwags near the old trading posts. He was regarded by the Omahas as their nakagahie, or big chief. In fact, he married an Omaha woman, Nakoma, to whose intercessions he was more than once indebted for the preservation of his life when attacked by Indians."

One night a crowd of frontiersmen were gathered in the store of Colonel Sarpy, and the conversation turned upon the treatment of the Indians. Sarpy portrayed in glowing colors the noble traits of the red men and the injustice heaped upon them by the whites.

A tall, gaunt looking specimen over in the corner, who was busily engaged in whittling, listened with considerable interest. He suddenly looked up and interrupted the speaker. "This year talk about the Indians as good and brave and intelligent may suit your traders who have been swapping gewgaws for their valuable buffalo robes and stealing their annuities, but I have lived among them, I want you to understand, and I'll be hanged if they are not a lying, thieving race of dogs, who don't know the difference between right and wrong. The sooner they are killed off the better it will be for the country."

This was too much for Sarpy. He advanced to the front of the speaker and interrupted him in an excited manner. "Do you know who I am, sir?" he asked, with considerable emphasis. "I am Peter A. Sarpy, sir! If you want to fight, sir, I am your man, sir! I can whip the devil out of you. Choose your weapons, sir! Bowls knife, shotgun or revolver, sir! I'm your man, sir!"

Here the speaker, by way of emphasis to his remarks, snatched his pistol at the lighted candle on the table, about three paces away, and all were left in total darkness. The stranger averted his eyes, and in a moment of opportunity to make his exit by the side door, being unwilling to serve as a target for the unerring marksman, who would have certainly have extinguished him in a single moment.

We are going "very rare" society was more shocked some years ago by the appearance in the field of female baseball clubs than it would be now for the advent of a female basketball team. Woman has taken all fields for her province and is scarcely anywhere challenged. If there are female thieves, why should there not be female sheriffs? These are the important details. We have ceased to be astonished at finding women in unexpected places. All this is not a spasmodic movement, a mere one-year freak. It indicates a radical change going on in the structure of society, an advance along the whole line of the great body of women to independence—the great body that may not care a rap for suffrage and that do not make the least noise about their "rights." They simply take them.—Charles Dudley Warner in Harper's.

A Popular Man in Greece. If you are not a politician in Greece, you must be a hero. But it is better to be a hero. You have nothing to do. You promise with a good sincerity to die for your country. That gives you the right while waiting to reveal in the pleasure of living and doing nothing. Heroes are men who despise bluebooks and reports, who smoke and consume small quantities of raki and are unacquainted with the official stiffness of diplomacy. They shake hands readily, joke with everybody and call their neighbor "brother." This is the type of man who is popular in Greece. This is the old folklore of heroic times.—Westminster Review.

Anglo. The English language is in an eminently fluid state. Not only does slang ultimately meet with the approval of adoption and science add monthly to the dictionary, but there is often a change in the pronunciation of familiar words. A physician was corrected here the other day by a pedant for his pronunciation of "anguine." The pedant insisted that the accent should be given to the first syllable, and he was strictly correct. How many physicians of this town would thus perform in speech? The change in the pronunciation of this word is of recent date.—Boston Journal.

A Quaker Sight in Holland. One of the queerest sights I saw in Europe was a row of wooden shoes outside the door of a Dutch farmhouse on Saturday morning. There were the best sized shoes of the farmer himself, the middle sized shoes of his good valet and several small sized shoes of the children, and all the line had been scrubbed and scrubbed whitewashed in preparation for Sunday.—Barbara's Young People.

FOR STATE SENATOR.

We are authorized to announce Hon J. P. Gay, of Clark county, as a candidate for Senator of this district composed of the counties of Clark, Bourbon and Montgomery, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Col. J. H. Holloway of Clark county is a candidate for State Senator from the district composed of Bourbon, Clark and Montgomery counties, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Your vote and influence respectfully solicited.

Senator Quay, in the course of an interview upon the financial situation in the country, said that Secretary Carlisle ought to refuse to purchase any more silver, and go into the Supreme Court and attack the constitutionality of the Sherman law. He said he could not say what the result would be, but it did seem to him that no court would decide that the Government was compelled to purchase silver and store it away in vault.

Claude M. Thomas, of Paris has received the appointment as Consul to Marseilles, France. This is an honor worthily bestowed. Mr. Thomas is in every way worthy of recognition by this administration and we rejoice that he is in receipt of what he sought. No more clean-handed gentlemen live in our section than Mr. Thomas. Young in years though he is, he bids fair, if his life is spared, to occupy a deservedly high position in the councils of his country. Mr. Thomas is related to many of our own people (his mother was a Montgomery county girl, daughter of the late Milton Jamison) and has many warm friends in our midst who rejoice in his appointment.

A candidate has a right to announce himself for office when he pleases and how he will. We do not propose to question his right to do this.

But we do question his right, when asking for a Democratic nomination to announce himself in a Republican paper, when there are two Democratic papers here, when the columns of which he can reach every Democratic voter in the county. We say no Democratic candidate, as such, has the right to give his money to the support of a Republican paper and then in the same paper expect the Democratic paper to spend money and much exertion to pull him through, because of the light that this same Republican paper makes on him. It seems to us that it would take no great degree of discernment for Democratic candidates who want the cordial support of their Democratic papers to perceive that they must not give to the Democratic paper with which to fight them.

Upon the recommendation of Congressman M. C. Lisle, the following gentlemen have been appointed pension examiners at Mt. Sterling: Drs. W. R. Thompson, F. P. Pierce, and J. A. Sherley, to succeed Drs. G. N. Cox, J. B. Taulbee, Democrats, and G. W. Moore, Republican. It has been said that Dr. Thompson was ineligible and could not qualify. We suppose this is a mistake. If Drs. Cox and Moore were eligible in like manner, Dr. Thompson is eligible. If our information is correct, both Drs. Cox and Moore took their oath of office before they had been graduates five years. But notwithstanding this they had been engaged in the practice and study of medicine for a longer period, and so it is with Dr. Thompson, who has been engaged in the study and practice of medicine for seven years. Were it otherwise, that pension examiners were required to be graduates for five years, or more, the gentlemen named of the retiring board were ineligible and all of their examinations, and the pension received and the increase of pensions have been illegal. The remuneration which they received was not just and they would be indebted to the Government for whatever amount received; the same as the pensioners for the amount they received. This, however, is not a fact and the law only requires that pension examiners shall have been practitioners of medicine five years. The retiring board are men of prominence in the profession against whom no adverse criticism has been offered. But the administration by which they were appointed has had an end, and the people through their present Representative, Mr. Lisle, have only expressed a preference in favor of other gentlemen. The gentlemen named by Mr. Lisle are competent physicians and honorable public men, and will make efficient Government officials. They are all Democrats.

Mr. W. S. Kincaid, of Shelbyville, Ky., has been appointed by President Cleveland Consul to Southampton. Mr. Kincaid is a cousin of W. P. Guthrie, of this city, and his wife (nee Miss Offutt) is a cousin of Dr. R. Q. Drake. Mr. Kincaid up to the time of his appointment was traveling salesman of the Cincinnati Coffin Co. He was neither prominent in politics or extensively known, but he was a man of physique and pleasing address. He had the solid endorsement of Mr. McCreary's District and his claims were urged by the unrelenting ex-Governor. The position pays $2,500 and we are glad Warner is successful.

Candidates are already beginning to announce themselves for office to be held at the November, 1894, election. This they have a perfect right to do. We have no right to gainsay them. But, whilst we accord to them the right to do as they wish in this matter, we claim the right to say our about this early announcement for office.

We have no desire to injure any one's prospects. In fact, some of those most active are our warmest friends, but we do intend to say that we think such precipitate action on the part of candidates is putting in jeopardy the success of the party in the county. We have, under our new and as yet untried system of voting—to face a new order of things that some intelligent men seem determined to close their eyes to. The large majority of the best class of Democratic voters of the county are open in their denunciation of a long political scramble for the offices to be voted for more than a year hence. Many of the best and most conservative business men of the city and county declare they will not take part in another primary, hold many months before a final election. Would it not be the act of wisdom on the part of those who want office to heed the wishes of a class of voters whose good opinion every aspirant for office desires?

People are worn out with the incessant pulling and hauling of candidates, and want a rest. We warn our friends, the candidates, that they may wake up some fine morning and realize they have made a very grave mistake in pressing their claims upon people who are not in a humor to listen to them. Call a halt on this matter, gentlemen—we are firmly persuaded it will be to your best interest to do so. Now don't misunderstand us. It is undeniably your right to announce yourselves if you so desire, and since the newspaper man has his space for sale as long as you want it for legitimate purposes, he will sell it to you and be glad of the opportunity; but we repeat, we are fully persuaded it is to your best interest and to the best interest of our common party, as we see it, for you to slow in this matter.

Secretary Hoke Smith, some days ago, in speaking of pension examiners said it would be his object to get young blood in the service. Young men of high standing in their profession would receive preference. And again on the 8 inst., the following in regard to Pension Examining Surgeons appeared in the Courier-Journal of 9 inst.

The question of reorganizing the Boards of Pension Examining Surgeons throughout the country is just now under consideration by Secretary Smith, Commissioner Lochren and Deputy Commissioner Murphy. There are 1,200 of these boards, each containing three members, and their work is a very important factor in the administration of the pension laws and in the adjudication of claims. Officials of the department state that careful examinations have revealed incompetence and gross carelessness in the work of these boards, and in some instances the evidence indicates that improper influences have been successfully applied to secure reports in pension claims favorably to the applicants. In view of these facts it has been decided to give this branch of the service a general overhauling. While no formal plan of reorganization has been announced, it is stated to be the purpose of Commissioner Lochren, with the approval of the Secretary, to appoint on these boards only men who stand in the very front rank of the profession in their respective localities, and men who keep well abreast of the times in medical science. Another inflexible condition to appointment will be that of unquestioned integrity. An official, in speaking of the matter to-day, said that recommendations by men of known character in the medical profession would be beneficial in securing appointments on pension boards than if made by politicians. The active work of reorganization will soon be begun.

This has no bearing on the board here, only that because of loose methods of other boards, the work of reorganizing will be made universal.

City Marshal, Charles Wilson, will be married to-morrow, the 14th inst., to Miss Lela, daughter of William Spencer. Mr. Wilson is known to our citizens as an industrious efficient officer and genial gentleman, and the young lady he is to wed is one of our bright cheerful young ladies, full of life. She will make an excellent wife. Wedding will be at the home of the bride. Elder H. D. Clark will officiate.

The negro, John Willis, who was arrested some three weeks ago, charged with burglary, broke jail on Thursday night. He managed to prise off the window casing and then with the pieces of the frame he made wedges with which he forced an upright stick in the window far enough to one side to allow him to squeeze through. When once in the jail yard, with the aid of a barrel, an old door and a pole he managed to climb the wall.

Our jail is a very good one, but there seems to be a weak spot or two in it which can be remedied with a small outlay by the County Court. This will no doubt be done.

Sunday-School Convention at Antioch.

On last Friday, from every part of the county, the Sunday-school workers traveled their way to Antioch Christian church. When they were all together they made a great big crowd. More than this; 'twas an enthusiastic crowd. Elder B. W. Trimble welcomed them with beautiful words, so that all felt just as they should—equal in privileges. This was responded to by Rev. E. E. Bomar in his happy way, and then work began. All the Sunday-schools in the county, with the exception of one or two, were represented, and reports showed flourishing schools.

Speeches were made and every one was excellent. It is said that Mrs. Jacob Henry made the talk of the day. Pointed, it was given with power; and if words thoughts and power could arouse the careless she succeeded. This convention was more largely attended than any previous ones, and the good people of Antioch did not forget the inner man. After the impromptu crowd had been beautifully fed there were many baskets full gathered up.

The officers and teachers got new ideas and have resolved to do more the coming year. The officers elected for the ensuing year were: W. P. Dickey, President; J. T. Highland, Vice President, and Hugh Boardman, Secretary. J. A. Orear had been President for a number of years, and upon his retirement the universal impression was "Well done, good and faithful servant."

Sterling Baptist church he said: "I leave Kentucky with many heart pangs, for no people could be kinder and more generous than Kentucky people are to me. I hope Mt. THE ADVOCATE.

A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

Wise and Otherwise to the Court or Appeals.

EDITOR OF THE OBSERVER—An editorial in your paper a short time since in regard to the lynching of a man by an infuriated mob, and the killing of another by a brother whose sister had been cruelly assaulted by the man whom he slew, suggested to me the idea, that perhaps to some extent, the higher courts of the State may be responsible for these acts. We have two courts in this State, the Court of Appeals, composed of four Judges, and the Superior Court, composed of three, who hold the lives and liberties and the property of the people in their hands. They are the courts of last resort, and they should be exceedingly particular ere they decide a case, involving the entire estate of an individual, and frequently his life. I do not believe that our higher courts give that attention to the cases before them, that they should. It is a well-known fact that one Judge of the Court of Appeals usually decides important cases, which the other Judges do not read or understand, and that his statement to his associates is all they know of the case. This is one reason why the Constitution required that another than the one who tried the case should pass upon the petition for a rehearing. The law requires that every Judge of the Superior Court shall certify that he has examined the record in every case where an opinion is rendered. But it frequently happens that these Judges make such a certificate when they know nothing whatever of the facts in the case, and indeed have never looked at the record, taking the opinion of one of the Judges alone. There is an instance where one of the Judges of the Court of Appeals affirmed a case, and shortly afterward forgetting the former decision, reversed the same case. This placed the courts in a ridiculous quandary for awhile as to which case they should stand by. Two appeals of the same character involving the same case were prosecuted before the Court of Appeals. Two separate records were sent up—and they were tackled together—one on top of the other. The two were submitted at the same time. The learned Judge who decided the case rendered an opinion on the bottom record, but stated that he could not decide the other branch of the case because it was not before him. And yet, in order to read the bottom record, he was compelled to turn the top record, which he said was not before him, out of his way. What do you think of a Judge who decides that a debt can be paid many months before it was contracted? What do you think of a Judge that decides that a debt is paid by a debtor when he could not possibly know at the time what the debt was? What do you think of a Judge that decides that a receipt for one debt is also a receipt for another debt? What do you think of a court that will hang a man on circumstantial evidence, and grant a new trial to a man who shot his victim in the back, a cruel murder, simply because the trial Judge expressed an opinion on the street that the man being tried was guilty? There was no fault found with the law or the instructions as given by the lower court, but simply because he happened to express on the street his opinion, the case was reversed. What do you think of a court that will condemn a man to be hung one week, and order their opinion to be published as the law of the land, and the very next week change their opinion and reverse the case and show that each and every point made in the original opinion was wrong, and order that last opinion to be published? Consistency is a jewel. I might consume pages, but this is enough to show what blunders these high courts make. It seems to look as if there should be no such courts. Indeed, if a man cannot get justice in the lower court, where the Judges are equally worthy and well qualified, where the law can be brought face to face with the court and the jury, how can he expect justice when his case goes up on paper, and that too, before a court overwhelmed with business, and who do not care a copper for him or anybody else except themselves.

I do not desire to be captious, but is it not well enough, once in while, to remind these high Justices that they ought to understand what they are about. A word to the wise is sufficient. Fiat Justitia.

Contentment and Happiness are only possible to the man who is satisfied with his lot. The rapid advancement in medical science now permits the preparation of medical compounds whose use is a guarantee to success. One of the best known and most popular at the present day is Dr. Fenners' Kidney and Backache Cure. So certain is it to bring prompt and permanent relief in all kidney and bladder complaints, female weakness, gravel, lumbago, sore of the back, as well as in all blood diseases, skin eruptions, scrofula, swellings, dyspepsia, dropsy, headaches, sense of weariness or drowsiness, etc., that it has long been sold money refunded if satisfaction not given. Could anything be fairer? Contents nothing to try it. Take a bottle home to-day.

The World's Fair and American Railways.

The Queen and Crescent Route widely known as the road running the "Finest Trains in the South," is in the field to carry everybody from the South to the World's Fair at Chicago. No part of the Southern country is left uncared for by this great railway and its connections. The Through Car System is an admirable exposition of the wonderful capabilities of American railroading. From New Orleans Through Sleeping Cars run daily, morning and evening, carrying, its passengers via Cincinnati or Louisville, as they may select.

From Shreveport, Vicksburg and Jackson another Through Sleeping Car Line comes to join and become a part of the magnificent Vicksburg Through Trains, which passing through Birmingham and the famous Wills Valley of Alabama, is joined at Chattanooga by the train from Jacksonville, Fla., Brunswick, and Atlanta, Ga., over the E. T. V. & Ga. railroad, and proceeds north over the beautiful Cincinnati Southern, through the grandest natural scenery and most attractive historical country in the world, to Oakland, where another magnificent Pullman car is received, coming from the Richmond & Danville System from Charleston, S. C., through Columbia, S. C., the beautiful French Broad country, and Asheville, N. C. and Knoxville, Tenn.

The time to Chicago is made so as afford the most convenient hours for departure from the principal cities and arrivals in Chicago.

Passengers can purchase tickets good over one line north of the river, and returning via another if they desire a variable route without extra charge. Or they can go via Cincinnati, returning via Louisville, or vice versa.

Round trip tickets on sale at reduced rates. Agents of the Chicago line will on request assist in looking up rooms or accommodation for visitors to the Fair.

Everything that an almost perfect system can devise to deserve the praise and patronage of the traveling public has been provided. A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, Ohio, states that he had been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be Consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found, before he had used half a dollar bottle, that he was much better; he continued to use it and to-day enjoying good health. If you have any Throat, Lung or Chest Trouble try it. We guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free at W. S. Lloyd's Drugstore.

HORSE AND TRACK.

Martha Wilkes' fastest work this season was a quarter in 36 seconds.

Directum, 2:14, is to have a sulky with aluminum wheels.

There are over 250 horses in training at Independence, Iowa.

A California correspondent reports that both Direct and Directum worked quarters in 20 1/2 seconds last week.

Queen Vance gets ten miles of road jogging one day, and six miles of track work the next.

Trinket, 2:14, has foaled another filly by Stamboul, 3:07. She will be bred to Arlon, 2:04, this year.

The prices for horses are keeping up pretty well, considering stringency of the money market and depression in all kinds of business.

There have been issued just fifty-four patents on ball-bearing pneumatic tire sulks, and many more are no doubt to follow.

A bit should be made as pleasant to horse as can be, and have him safe. Many a race has been lost by a horse being vexed, irritated and maddened by an unpleasant bit.

Robert Bonner says that when you raise the heel of a horse's foot you depress the ankle, and when you raise the toe you raise the ankle also, and the colleges and faculties in the world, notwithstanding.

Wilkes Bird, full sister to the dam of Allerton, 2:09, failed to get in form last year and she is now earning her salt by helping to draw a drag on the kite shaped track at Independence, Iowa.

Rather a new departure in shoeing is the method in vogue at Rush Park this season. The shoes of the feet of the horses being worked there are not provided with heel calks, as is usually the case, neither is the outside longer than the inside. The shoe fits the shape of the foot, just as the front shoes do.

The Breeder and Sportsman announces that Senator Stanford has decided to register no more of his horses in the American Trotting Register, and that numerous other California breeders have arrived at the same decision. It is said that they have "strong and valid reasons for so doing," which, it may be easily surmised, arise principally from the rejection of the records made at Stockton last fall.

Patsy Curtis, a Kansas colt by Evermont, is a marvel in his way. He has been campaigned every year since he was a yearling, has never been beaten but twice, as a yearling took a record of 2:33, as a two-year-old one of 2:29, and as a four-year-old one of 2:16. As a three-year-old he measured 16.2 in front and 17.1 behind, and last year, as a four-year-old, 17 1/2 forward and 17 1/2 behind.

Talking about conditioning-work, John Splan says: "There was a day when I had Charley Dunbar's Johnston, 2:06, and he stopped and he stopped hard. Woodmansee and I talked it over, and I told him that stiff work and plenty of it was what he wanted. The result was that I gave him three heats in that 2:14, and a few days later when he came out for his races, there was nothing short of a locomotive that could have headed him on his trip to the wire."

There are nearly as many systems of training as there are trainers, no two training exactly alike in every respect, still there are a great many trainers who succeed in making trotters. This to our mind proves two things—one is that one system of training is not so much better than another, and that trotters are foaled trotters, and will be trotters, trained under almost any system practiced by man.

It is doubtful if a colt can be taught to trot fast without being driven to a break occasionally. There is no other way to find out the limit of their speed. The only way to make a trotter of a youngster is to get after him and make him trot. Colts frequently get cunning and will loaf along apparently doing their best, when if the driver gets right after them they will show a much faster burst of speed. It takes work to make a trotter, and it is probable that the average colt is as anxious to that as the average man—trotter.

If you wish to hear a musical treat composed of home talent, people in whom we all know, don't fail to hear Mrs. Samuels' Operetta Wednesday, June 21st.

"STANDS EVERY KIND OF CRITICISM."

Some men think that ready-to-wear clothing cannot be as well and carefully made as suits that are made to order. That may be true in some cases—probably many. But it is well to remember that a house with a reputation as a jealous of it, and cannot afford to turn out goods that won't STAND EVERY KIND OF CRITICISM. Our ready-to-wear clothing is equal to custom work. The material of every garment we sell is chosen by ourselves, and made for our special trade. When WE are satisfied YOU will surely be. Not the least satisfactory thing will be the price.
